RULE NO.: 6A-6.0531      RULE TITLE: Reading Achievement Initiative for Scholastic Excellence (RAISE)

PURPOSE AND EFFECT: The workshop scheduled for January 5th, in F.A.R. volume 47/211 is being rescheduled for January 27th. The purpose of this rule development is to establish a tutoring program in which eligible high school students are trained to tutor students in kindergarten through grade 3 in schools identified on the RAISE list, instilling in those students a love of reading and improving their literacy skills. School districts that wish to participate in the tutoring program must recruit, train and deploy eligible high school students. Participating high school students will be trained in effective reading tutoring practices and content, based on evidence-based practices and aligned to the Benchmarks for Excellent Student Thinking (B.E.S.T.) English Language Arts (ELA) standards. High school students who provide at least 75 hours of tutoring under the RAISE program will be designated as a New Worlds Scholar with a pin from the Florida Department of Education. The rule will outline minimum training criteria and processes for verifying tutoring hours of high school students for the designation of a New Worlds Scholar, as well as other requirements relating to a RAISE tutoring program.

SUBJECT AREA TO BE ADDRESSED: RAISE Tutoring Program.

DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

RULE NOS.: 62-701.805      RULE TITLES: Coal Combustion Residuals Facility Permitting Requirements and Procedures Forms

NOTICE OF CHANGE

Notice is hereby given that the following changes have been made to the proposed rule in accordance with subparagraph 120.54(3)(d)1., F.S., published in Vol. 47 No. 131, July 8, 2021 issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

62-701.805 Coal Combustion Residuals Facility Permitting Requirements and Procedures.

- (1) No change.
- (2) Design Requirements.
  - (a) No change.

(b) The design requirements for construction of new CCR surface impoundments or any lateral expansions are those specified in 40 CFR ~~257.71, 257.72, 257.73~~ and 257.74 [as adopted by reference in subsection 62-701.804(3), F.A.C.]. The design requirements for existing CCR surface impoundments are those specified in 40 CFR 257.71 and 257.73 [as adopted by reference in subsection 62-701.804(3), F.A.C.].

(c) Requirement for Quality Assurance/Quality Control (QA/QC) Plans. For the construction of any new CCR landfill or CCR surface impoundment, any lateral expansions of a CCR landfill or surface impoundment, or retrofit of an existing CCR surface impoundment, a quality assurance/quality control plan ~~in accordance with subsections 62-701.400(7) and (8), F.A.C.,~~ must be provided for the construction of the liner system, leachate collection system, and the final cover system, as applicable.

1. The quality assurance/quality control plan shall provide personnel with adequate information to achieve continuous compliance with the construction requirements. The plan shall include or refer to specifications and construction methods that use established engineering practices to construct a liner system, leachate collection system or final cover system and provide for quality control testing procedures and sampling frequencies. Sampling and testing shall be conducted in the field by trained personnel during construction and after construction completion. Such personnel shall be under the direction of a construction quality assurance professional engineer, to assure compliance with the standards. The construction quality assurance professional engineer or their designee shall be on-site at all times during construction to monitor construction activities and shall be on-site to monitor off-loading of any geosynthetics to be used. Construction activities include the time during which a protective layer is installed over a geomembrane, to ensure that the placement techniques do not cause damage to the geomembrane.

2. Liner systems, leachate collection systems, and final cover systems shall be installed in accordance with a Department-approved construction quality assurance plan that includes the following elements:

a. Responsibility and authority of all organizations and key personnel involved in permitting, designing, constructing, and providing construction quality assurance of the waste disposal facility shall be described fully;

b. Minimum qualifications of the construction quality assurance professional engineer and supporting personnel shall be in the plan to demonstrate that they possess the training and experience necessary to fulfill their identified responsibilities;

c. Procedures and tests that will be used to monitor the installation of the liner system, leachate collection system, or final cover system components shall be described in detail;

d. The sampling activities, sample size, sample locations, frequency of testing, acceptance and rejection criteria, and plans for implementing corrective measures that may be necessary shall be described; and

e. Reporting requirements for construction quality assurance activities shall be described, including daily summary reports, observation data sheets, problem identification and corrective measures, and final documentation. All such documents shall be included in the final report which shall be forwarded to the Department.

f. For geosynthetic components:

(I) Unless otherwise approved by the Department, one destructive test sample shall be collected every 500 feet along the total length of the liner seams. If an electrical leak location survey method, or other equivalent non-destructive test method, is used to locate and repair leaks in the installed liner system, then one destructive test sample shall be collected every 1000 feet along the total length of the seams in the areas where this method is used.

(II) If an electrical leak location survey method, or other equivalent method is used to test the geomembrane(s) in the liner system, testing shall be conducted after placement of the soil drainage layer. The geomembrane liner leak location survey shall be performed using standard industry methods, and any leaks located shall be repaired and tested by methods approved by the Department. The results of the geomembrane liner leak location survey, including a description of the locations of any leaks detected and the repairs that were conducted on these leaks, shall be documented in a final report included with the completion of construction documents required in this subsection.

(III) A laboratory experienced in the testing of geosynthetics, independent of the liner manufacturer and installer, shall perform the required testing which must include, at a minimum, conformance testing for all geosynthetics and geocomposites, and testing of seam shear and peel strength for geomembranes.

g. For soil components:

(I) All required testing and analysis shall be conducted by a qualified soil testing laboratory and performed in accordance with generally accepted engineering procedures, such as those promulgated by ASTM International.

(II) Prior to soil component installation, an appropriate borrow source shall be located. Suitability of the soil construction materials from that source shall be determined in accordance with the following:

(A) A field exploration and laboratory testing program shall be conducted by an independent soil testing laboratory to document the horizontal and vertical extent and the homogeneity of the soil strata proposed for use as a material component of the liner system. A sufficient number of index tests from each potential borrow stratum shall be performed to quantify the variability of the borrow materials and to document that the proposed borrow material complies with specifications. At a minimum, the index tests shall consist of percent fines, Atterberg limits and moisture content determinations.

(B) Sufficient laboratory hydraulic conductivity tests shall be conducted on samples representative of the range invariability of the proposed borrow source. For each such sample, test specimens shall be prepared and tested to cover the range of molding conditions (moisture content and dry density) required by project specifications. The hydraulic conductivity tests shall be conducted in triaxial type permeameters. The test specimens shall be consolidated under an isotropic consolidation stress no greater than 10 pounds per square inch and permeated with water under an adequate backpressure to achieve saturation of the test specimens. The inflow to and outflow from the specimens shall be monitored with time and the hydraulic conductivity calculated for each recorded flow increment. The test shall continue until steady state flow is achieved and relatively constant values of hydraulic conductivity are measured. The borrow source will only be considered suitable if the hydraulic conductivity of the material, as documented on laboratory test specimens, can be shown to meet the requirements of the project specifications at the 98 percent confidence level.

(III) Prior to full-scale installation, a field test section or test strip shall be constructed at the site above a prepared subbase. The test strip shall be considered acceptable if the measured hydraulic conductivities of undisturbed samples from the test strip meet the requirements of the project specifications at the 98 percent confidence level. If the test section fails to achieve the desired results, additional test sections shall be constructed in accordance with the following requirements:

(A) The test section shall be of sufficient size such that full-scale installation procedures can be duplicated within the test section;

(B) The test section shall be constructed using the same equipment for spreading, kneading and compaction and the same construction procedures (e.g., number of passes, moisture addition and homogenization, if needed) that are anticipated for use during full-scale installation;

(C) At a minimum, the test section shall be subject to the following field and laboratory testing requirements:

I. A minimum of five random samples of the soil construction material delivered to the site during test section installation shall be tested for moisture content, percent fines, and Atterberg limits;

II. At least five field density and moisture determinations shall be performed on each lift of the compacted test section;

III. Upon completion of the test section lift, the thickness of the lift shall be measured at a minimum of five random locations to check for thickness adequacy; and

IV. A minimum of five Shelby tube or drive cylinder samples shall be obtained from each lift of the test section for laboratory hydraulic conductivity testing. Laboratory hydraulic conductivity testing shall be conducted in triaxial type permeameters. The test specimens shall be consolidated under an isotropic consolidation stress no greater than 10 pounds per square inch and permeated with water under an adequate backpressure to achieve saturation of the test specimens. The inflow to and outflow from the specimens shall be monitored with time and the hydraulic conductivity calculated for each recorded flow increment. The test shall continue until steady state flow is achieved and relatively constant values of hydraulic conductivity are measured.

(IV) Full scale installation may begin only after completion of a successful test section. During construction, quality control testing shall be provided to document that the installed soil component conforms to project specifications. The testing frequencies for quality control testing are specified below; however, during construction of the first five acres, these frequencies shall be doubled. Samples shall be obtained from random locations selected by an independent soil testing laboratory. If there are indications of a change in product quality or construction procedures during construction, additional tests shall be performed to determine compliance.

(V) Field testing during installation. The following field tests shall be performed:

(A) Prior to the laying of the soil component materials, the subbase shall be compacted to the specified density. Density tests shall be conducted at a minimum rate of two tests per acre;

(B) A minimum of two moisture content and field density determinations shall be conducted per acre per lift of the compacted soil component material. The degree of compaction shall be checked using the one-point field Proctor test or other appropriate test procedures; and

(C) A minimum of four thickness measurements shall be conducted per acre per lift of the compacted soil component material.

(VI) Laboratory testing during soil component installation. The following laboratory tests shall be performed:

(A) Percent fines of the soil component construction material shall be determined at a minimum frequency of two tests per acre per lift of installed soil component material;

(B) Atterberg Limits determinations shall be performed on one sample per acre per lift of installed soil component material; and

(C) Hydraulic conductivity testing of Shelby tube or drive cylinder samples of the compacted soil component material shall be performed at a minimum frequency of one test per acre per lift. Laboratory hydraulic conductivity tests shall be conducted in triaxial type permeameters. The test specimens shall be consolidated under an isotropic consolidation stress no greater than 10 pounds per square inch and permeated with water under an adequate backpressure to achieve saturation of the test specimens. The inflow to and outflow from the specimens shall be monitored with time and the hydraulic conductivity calculated for each recorded flow increment. The test shall continue until steady state flow is achieved and relatively constant values of hydraulic conductivity are measured.

(VII) If the test data from a soil component section does not meet the requirements of the project specifications, additional random samples may be tested from that section. If such additional testing demonstrates that the thickness and hydraulic conductivity meet the requirements of the project specifications at the 95 percent confidence level, that section will be considered acceptable. If not, that section shall be reworked or reconstructed so that it does meet these requirements.

3. The professional engineer in charge of construction quality assurance shall provide a signed, sealed final report and record drawings to the Department stating that the liner components have been installed in substantial conformance with the plans and specifications. The report and drawings shall be submitted along with a certification of construction completion on Form 62-701.900(2) Certification of Construction Completion of a Solid Waste Management Facility, incorporated by reference in paragraph 62-701.320(9)(b), F.A.C.

(3) Operating Requirements.

(a) No change.

(b) New CCR surface impoundments, existing CCR surface impoundments, and lateral expansion of a CCR surface impoundment. The operating requirements for existing CCR surface impoundments, construction of new CCR surface impoundments, and any lateral expansions are those specified in 40 CFR 257.80<sub>2</sub>; 257.82<sub>2</sub>; and 257.83<sub>2</sub> [as adopted by reference in subsection 62-701.804(3), F.A.C.].
